

Today is Noah's birthday. As she blew out the candles and made her wish, ideas of playing in the big blue ocean filled her heart.

As a birthday surprise, Noah's dad called with exciting news, 'Pack your buckets and spades! We're off to the beach for our holiday!'

Noah's heart leapt with joy. Her dream was coming true!

That night, Noah couldn't sleep. She whispered to her starfish babies that she would return soon after her sea side adventure.

In Noah's dream, she stood on a sandy beach, eyeing a lush forest ahead. Excitement bubbled within her, but she waited for her parents, knowing adventures are best shared.

The morning of the holiday, she woke up early ...

Brushed her teeth

Wore her favourite outfit

And had a breakfast

As they journeyed to the airport, Noah's eyes were treated to an endless array of cherry blossom trees, their delicate petals dancing in the spring breeze. Each sight filled her with enchantment and joy, making the trip even more magical.

When they arrived at the airport, Noah was greeted by a breathtaking sight. The sky was a canvas of vibrant hues, with airplanes soaring gracefully like needles sewing into the silk of the sky.

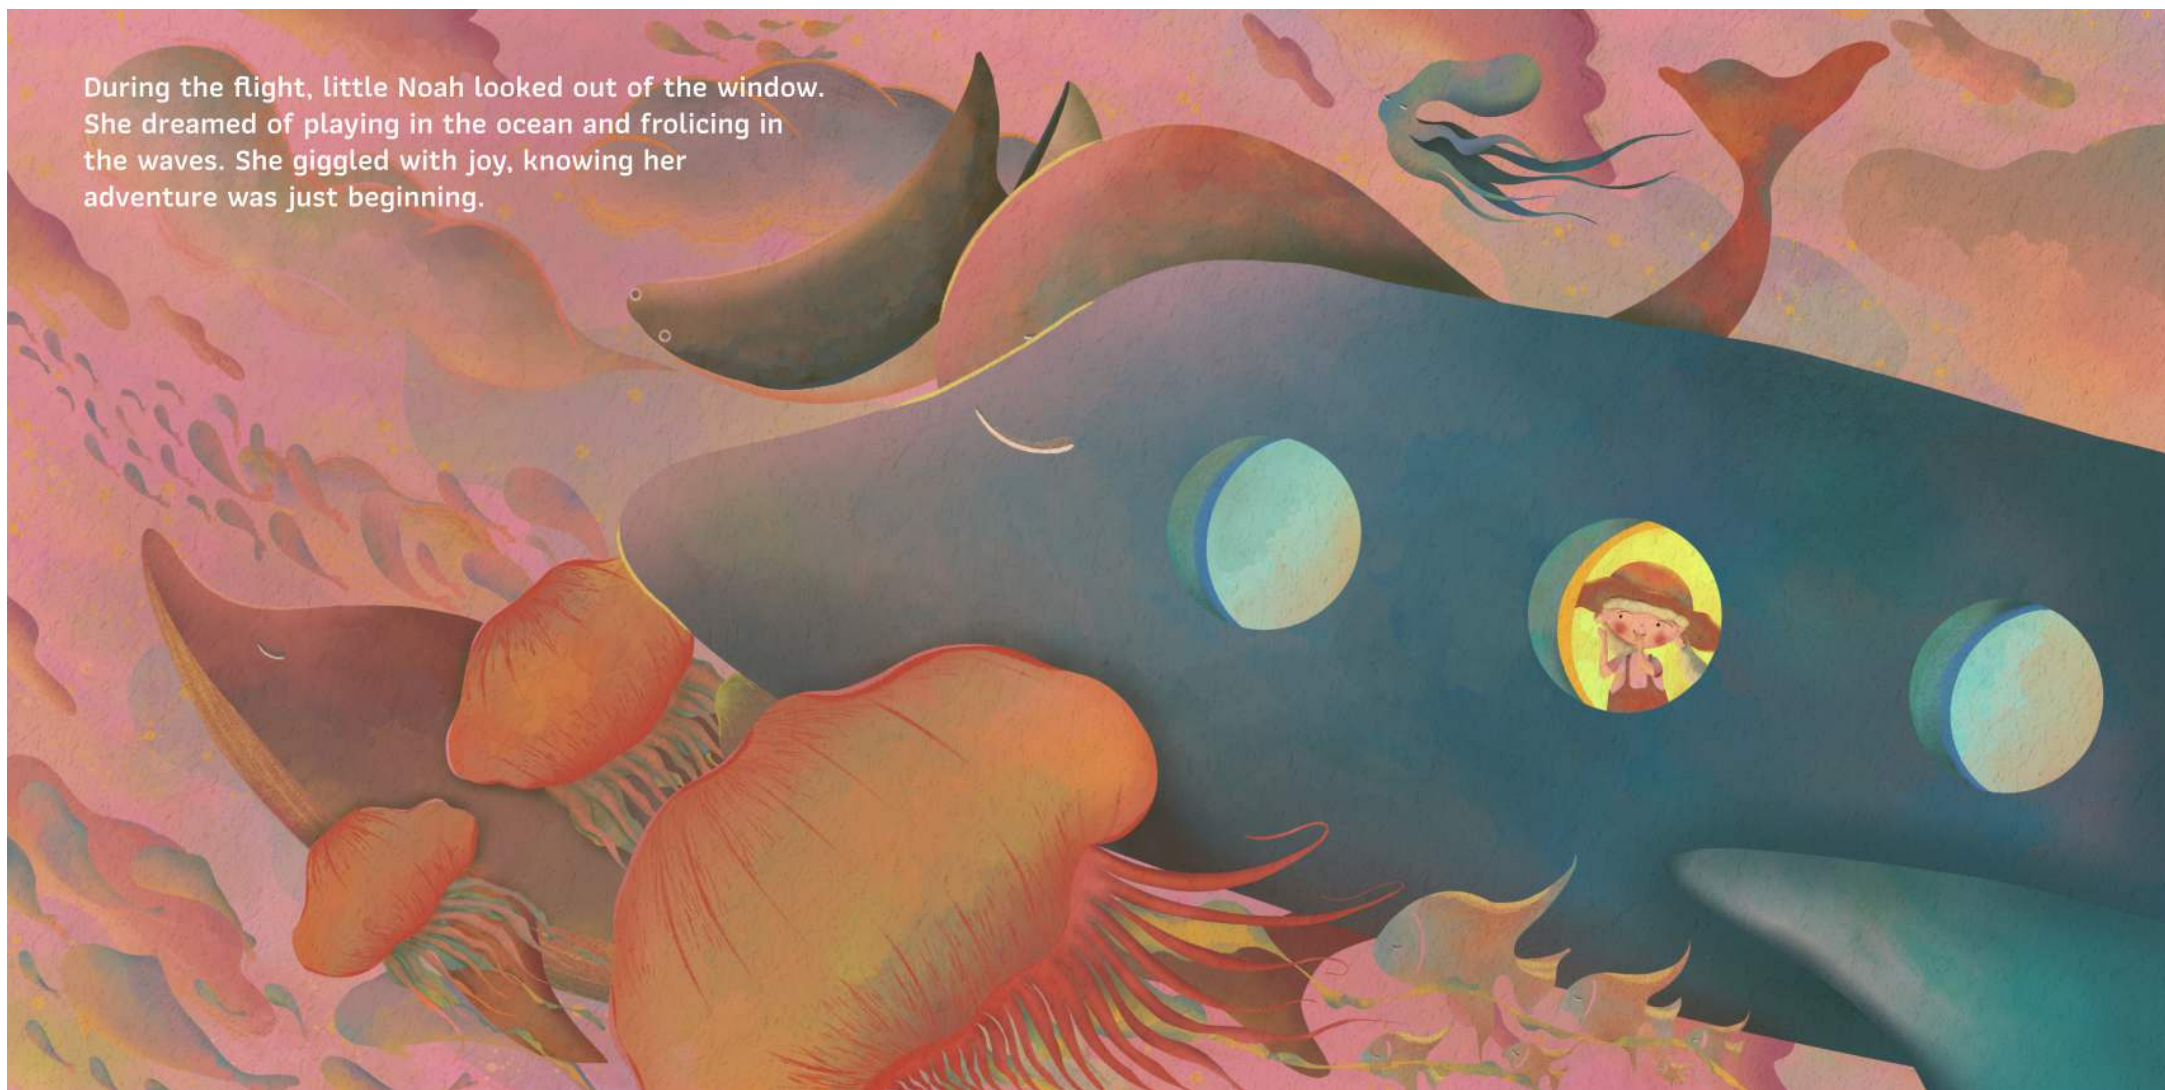

Noah, recalling her dream, gazed at her mother with curiosity. 'Mummy,' she asked, 'is there a forest in the beach?' Her mother, taken aback, returned her smile.

As the pilot's voice announced their landing, Noah's mother vowed to answer her question about the beachside forest before their trip ended, leaving Noah eager and curious.

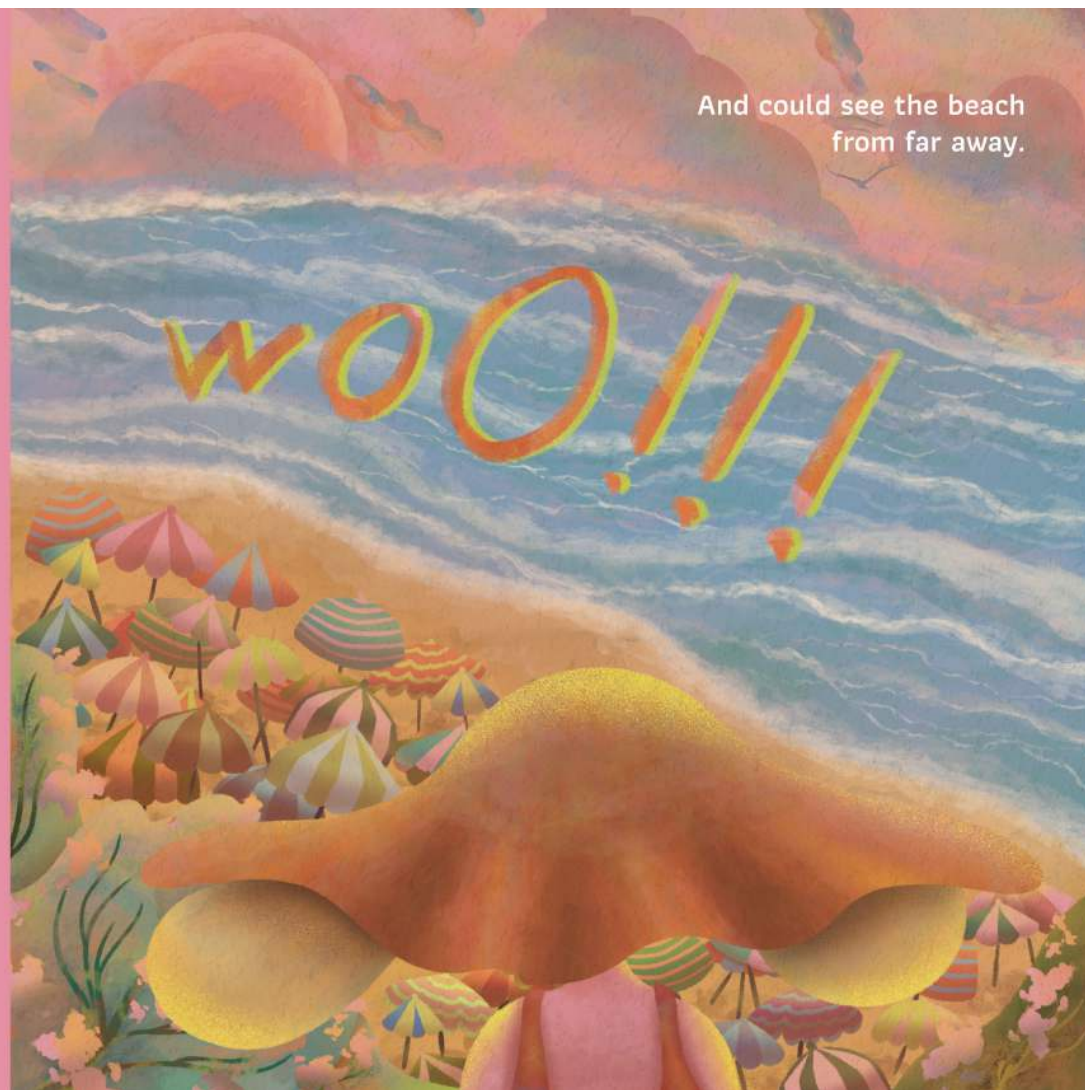

During the flight, little Noah looked out of the window. She dreamed of playing in the ocean and frolicing in the waves. She giggled with joy, knowing her adventure was just beginning.

Finally, she arrived the beach town,

And could see the beach
from far away.

Upon reaching the beach, she jumped with joy.

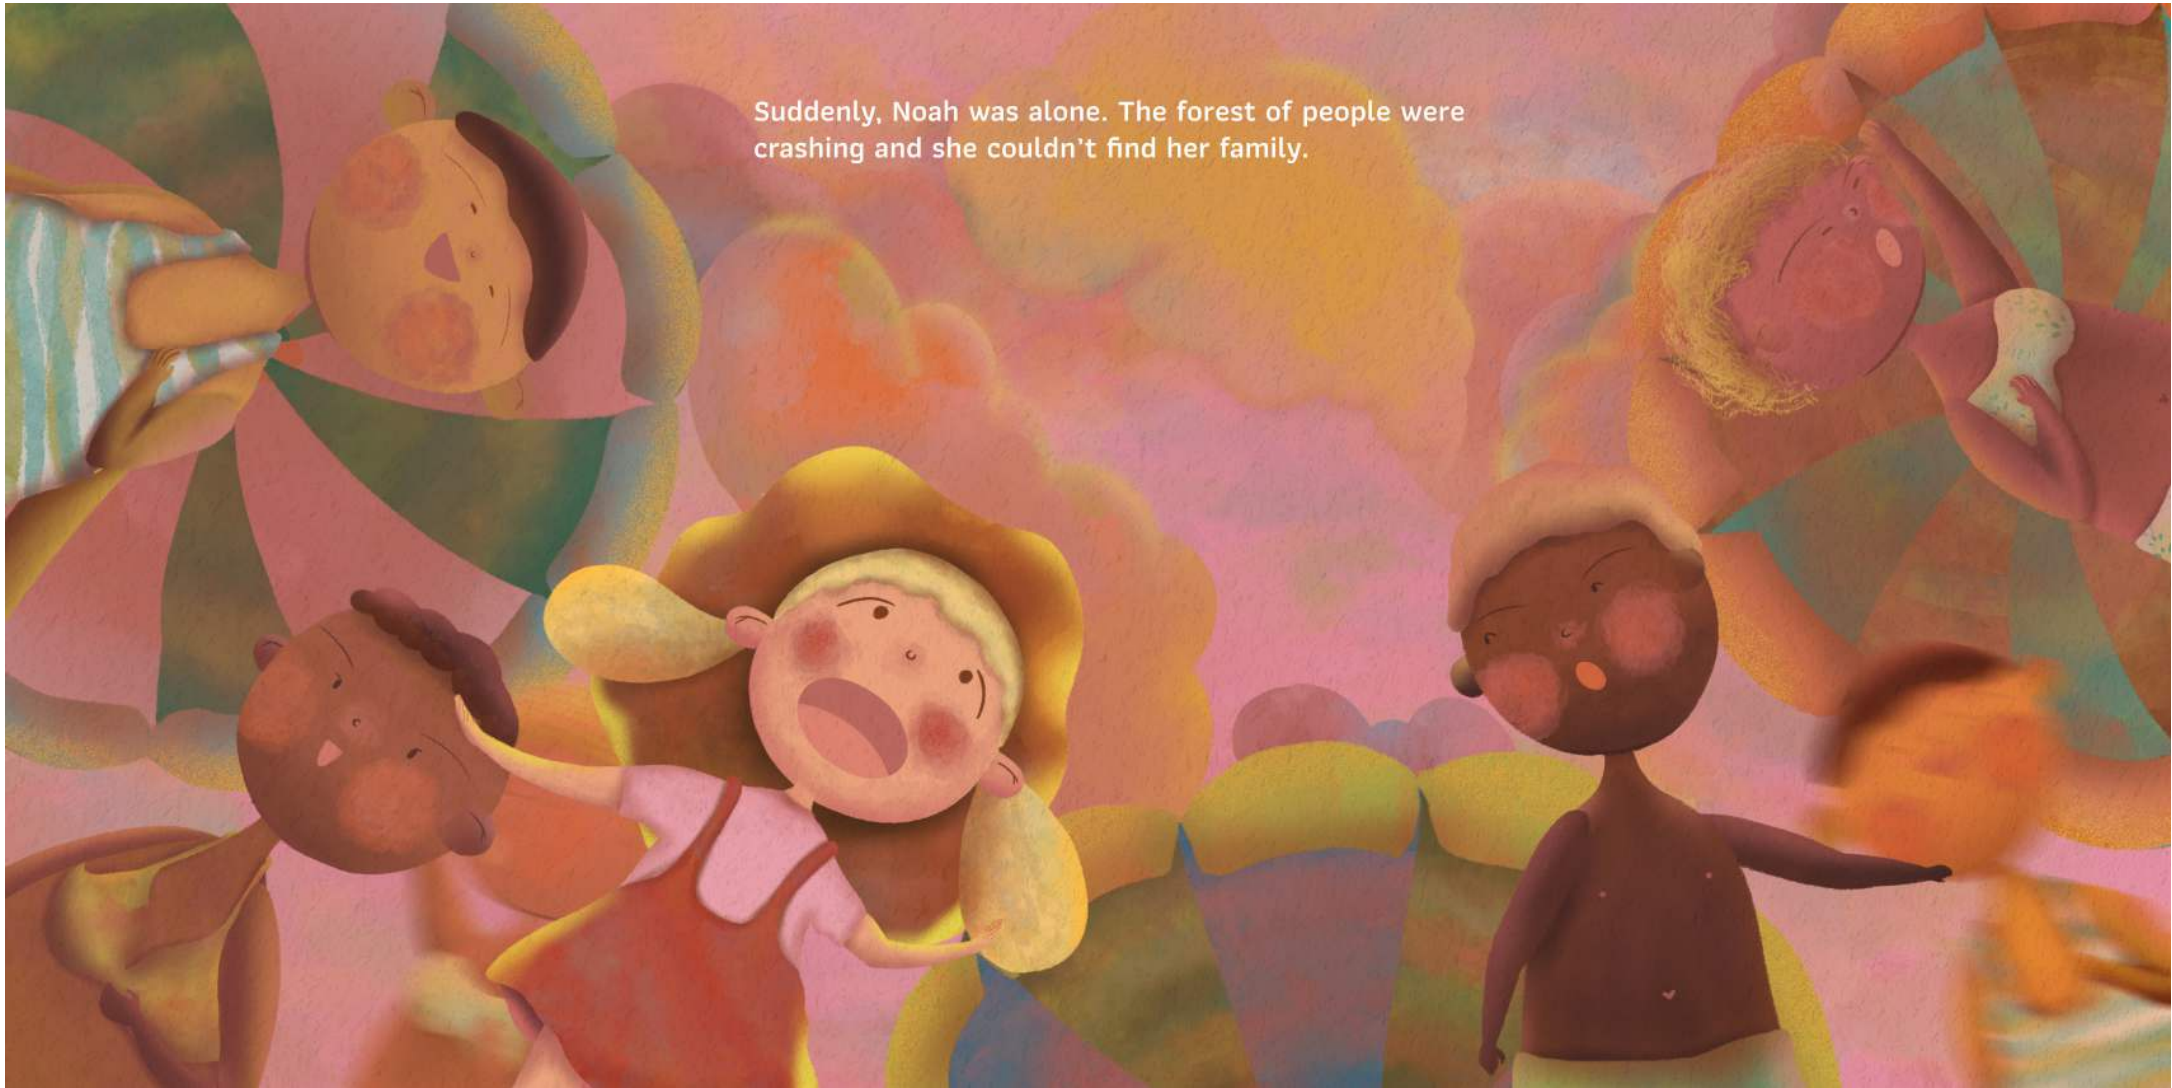

She dashed towards the shoreline with the salty air in her hair.

Noah's parents surprised her with a bunch of birthday balloons. She ran in the sand exploring the entire beach.

Suddenly, Noah was alone. The forest of people were crashing and she couldn't find her family.

Feeling frightened, Noah remembered her mother's advice.
Bravely, she looked for the lifeguard like her mother had told her.

Find a beach
lifeguard

She found the lifeguard station next to the forest like what she saw in her dream, and sat and waited it. As she waited, she looked around. Her heart became sad, scattered in the sand was rubbish. There were all sorts of rubbish along the shore and by the forest.

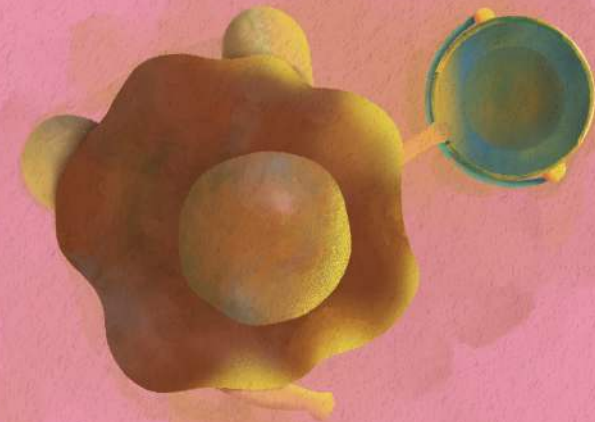

[illegible]

Noah was determined to make a difference.

Suddenly, others joined her. Hand in hand, they worked together to restore the beach. With each piece of rubbish they collected, the happiness grew.

As the last bit of rubbish was cleared away, Noah's parents finally found her.

Noah's mother whispered lovingly, 'There might be forests in the sea, and so is a forest of kindness. And in your heart, my dear, a seed of kindness now flourishes.'